NABNI
B4P FACILITY

Nabni Building for Peace (B4P) Facility

THEORY OF CHANGE

Theory of Change

	Pathway 1	Pathway 2	Pathway 3
	Improved social cohesion and peaceful conflict resolution	Equal access to improved and inclusive infrastructure, services and sustainable livelihood options	Stronger accountable and inclusive governance
Outcomes	• Increased cross-divide cooperation • Peaceful resolution of local conflicts	• Improvements in living conditions and increased self-reliance • Reduction of conflicts over access to resources, inequalities and grievances	• Local decision-making processes and structures are more responsive to diverse community needs
Change processes	• Strong local organisations facilitate and promote community led processes • Communities and local duty-bearers have improved and increased opportunities and spaces for communication and interaction between different groups • Spaces are created to discuss grievances, local conflicts and the future of the community • Conflict resolution mechanisms are strengthened	• Investments are made based on common interests • Provision of basic services is improved • People's economic situation is • improved Local economic cycles are revived • Community infrastructures facilitate opportunities for exdiange and encounter • Local authorities are engaged in operation and maintenance of infrastructure and associated services	• Local accountability mechanisms are strengthened • Technical skills to manage administrative processes are improved • Possibilities for participation are created • Grievance mechanisms are strengthened and their use is promoted • Local decision-making is more consultative and transparent

Cross-cutting Pillar 1:
Equal and Respectful Partnerships

Cross-cutting Pillar 2:
Technical Assistance and Capacity Strengthening

Cross-cutting Pillar 3:
Knowledge Exchange and Learning

NABNI
B4P FACILITY

NABNI
B4P FACILITY